

Director's Note

“To being an us for once, instead of a them. La Vie Boheme!”

This lyric, calling for unity, is one of many powerful affirmations scattered throughout Larson's revolutionary story of art, resistance, attraction, survival, loss, and above all else, love. At its core, this musical is a celebration of the power of community. We witness this diverse, complicated community move through one of the most devastating chapters in history, pulling each other through the peak of the HIV/AIDS epidemic and ultimately teaching us that love was always the answer.

- Director, Melvin Brandon Logan